

The Mountain

The client journey as a climb: the base where they start, the belief line they must cross, three camps of your method, and the view from the summit.

1 Your example

2 MIN

Whose journey is this, and toward what?

One sentence: the client, where they are, where your offer takes them.

2 The base: where they start

DAY ZERO

Describe day zero honestly

Their week, what they tried, what they believe about themselves. Use their words.

The base, compressed to five words or fewer

3 The belief line

THE CROSSING

What belief has to break before the climb can start?

Below the line they are a spectator, above it a climber. Name the exact belief that flips.

4 The climb: three camps

THE METHOD

Camp 1 name (two or three words)

What happens at camp 1?

Camp 2 name (two or three words)

What happens at camp 2?

Camp 3 name (two or three words)

What happens at camp 3?

The climb as a whole, compressed to five words or fewer

The summit

THE VIEW

What can they see from the top that they could not see from the base?

The summit is not the certificate. It is the view.

The summit, compressed to five words or fewer

The guide sentence

Finish: 'I cannot carry you up, but I know every camp, and I know you will...'
